CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 31.—Wheat was very weak throughout the entire session to-day. The opening was about 1c. per bushel lower than the closing figures of Saturday, became weak, and after some minor fluctuations, prices further declined 15-62c, then held steady, and the closing was 24-655kc, lower than the last prices of Saturday. There was some surprise at the course of the marke, which became a consternation, and at one time amounted aimost to a panic when little or no reaction appeared, and the prices continued to sink. The fact of the matter was that traders were leaded with wheat and were merely waiting for the opportunity to sell. The bulge towards the end of last week gave them this chance, and they were quick to take advantage of it. The silver repeal bill having been discounted for several days, and little or no effect in the matter of sustaining prices. New York stocks were weak and much lower, and this speculative feeling was communicated to whoat. New Yorkers who have been the biggest buils for so long were selling to-day, and it was said that there were numerous orders from abroad on that side of the market. As the market declined it caught many stop loss orders, and they helped the depression.

Corn was dull and steady, the range being within %c. limit, closing ¼@Sc. under the final figures of Saturday. NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Yesterday's vote by the Seinite repealing the Sherman sil-eer law did not have the effect on the it market that the buils expected, the first place. London cabled orders will various stocks, much to the dis-position of the local operators, who selling by operators who their lines on the belief of the silver purchasing maneously bring about a ti was seen that, instead outside operators were the weak-kneed bulls tried a magnification in the search of the search operators. being within %c. limit, closing %6%c. under the final figures of Saturday.
Outs were featureless, but the feeling was steady. Price changes were within %c limit, the closing being %c. below Saturday. arive at the market

Frovisions were dull, weak and dragging. There was but little trading and price changes were few. The close showed a loss of 12½c, for pork and 10c, for ribs. NEW YORK, Oct. 31—Following is Atwood, Violett & Co.'s cotton letter by private wire to C. W. Branch & Co.:

Although Liverpool closed slightly lower than last night, there was a good tone, and surprisingly so, after the large movement in prospect for to-day at all ports, but we think that the market is beginning to realize what is influencing this market—namely, that, notwithstanding large crop ideas, and a large movement, that the resistance to declines must be largely explained _ccause of the strength of actual cotton. All Southern markets are above a parity with this market, and therefore the New York stock cannot be further increased at the moment, except at a loss, and, in confirmation of this, we see that there are no premiums on future months, as there is more disposition to buy the near months, as they become current, by those who, have sold them. Another evidence of the strength of this market with the very large short interest here, particularly for Liverpool, is the fact that the stock here is 169.816 bales only, against 275.352 bales at the end of October last year, and the feeling is that those who own the stock are generally more buillish than bearish. We are not sentimentally buillish, but, on the contrary, we feel that we are giving from day to day, t.rough this medium, practical evidences in support of such views. The exporters are perhaps the best judges at the moment of the situation, and the general report among them is that Southern spot holders are not disposed to sell freely, and one of the most prominent, and thus offers little or no weight to the port stocks. At this season usually Liverpool is the dumping ground from all over the South every day in the way of offers for immediate or future shipment; but, instead of this being the case, it is quite the reverse. The large movement of the past ten days has not offered, perhaps, any inducements to buy contracts, except, perhaps, on depression, but, at the geame time, what RICHMOND STOCK MARKET. A DIFFERENCE OF TEN CENTS.

ATLANTA, GA., Oct. 31.—While Colonel Benjamin Z. Phillips, a lawyer, was arranging a matter of costs with Judge Edgar H. Orr to-day, a difference of 10 cents was discovered between them. The controversy ended by Judge Orr, who is a large, stout man, grasping Phillips, who is small of stature, and shaking him victorists around the court room, striking clously around the court room, striking him in the face, and finally throwing him out of the court room. The Judge has se-cured a suppression of the story in the local newspapers. He is the son of the late State School Commissioner Orr.

1. THE REVERIES OF A BACHELOR: OR, A BOOK OF THE HEART.

By IK. MARVEL (Donald G. Mitchell.) This American classic has enjoyed a world wide circulation at its price of 1.25. It is now offered for the first time at a nominal cost to our sub-How agreeable is "Ik. Marvel" in this gem of a book from his pen, how quaint, how humorous, philosophical, pathetic and charming.

LAYS OF ANCIENT ROME. By LORD MACAULAY. Beautifully Illustrated. Macaulay's "Lays" are instinct with the very soul of poetry, and are full of heroic action and energy. Like Scott's spirit-stirring ballads, they have a fine picturesque quality, with graphic breadth and great realistic power of expression. The English, no less than the Roman lays, have the breadth of the battle-field and the sounding notes of the charge to buttle. The illustrations of this edition are unique, being executed in delicate outline. 3. A TILLYLOSS SCANDAL. By J. M. BARRIE.

A new work by J. M. Barrie, author of the Scottish classic, "The Little Minister," which has had a phenomenal sale, may be expected to whet the literary appetite of every intelligent reader of high-class fiction. In stories of humble Scottish peasant life, Mr. Barrie is on his own special ground. He knows the characteristics of the Scottish weaver and the peasant class as the sallor knows the sea. His sketches are full of a dry, quaint humor, with a strong realism and great force and directness of narrative power. Never, since Scott's day, has Lowland Scottish fiction had such an interpreter or so entrancing a depictor of character, lit up, at the same time, with odd situations and amusing or droll incident.

4. THE HOUSE OF THE SEVEN GABLES. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. This masterplece of Hawthorne's is full of the imaginative charm of romance. In felicity of touch, its author is unapproached by any writer since his own day. The work is, perhaps, the purest piece of poetic prose in all the range of American literature.

5. CRANFORD. By MRS. GASKELL.

"Cranford," in its charming miniature painting and sketches of character, recalls the best of Jane Austen's novels. It is a delightful picture of old world social life in an English country village, descriptive of the feelings, habits, opinions, character and social conditions of the little community. The story is quiet carnestness and with fine literary aptitudes in the writer. It is beautifully illustrated Illustrated.

6. THE COMING RACE. By LORD LYTTON.

"The COMING RACE. By LORD LYTTON.

"The Coming Race," by Lord Lytton, is a clever and ingenious excursion into the realm of science, as the inventive mind of man may find it in the coming time. It presents a curious but fascinating picture of the human environments, as we may see it realized in the next century, when human needs will be served by every resource of electrical and mechanical contrivance—when "the coming race," for instance, will be enabled to exchange domestic helps for ingenious and mercury-footed automatons, and have at command every appliance adapted to the marvellously changed social and industrial condition of things. The work is the product of a fanciful but rarely gifted and versatile mind.

7. DREAM LIFE. By IK. MARVEL (Donald G. Mitchell.) There is a profound mental study in this world-wide American classic. It contains a series of very vivid and picturesque studies of individual character and feeling. It has a fascinating power over the reader, while its graceful diction charms the literary appreciation and fills the mind with delightful, though sometimes pathetic pictures.

S, FRANKENSTEIN; OR, THE MODERN PROMETHEUS. By MRS. SHELLEY Like Mrs. Crowe's "Night Side of Nature," Mrs. Shelley's "Frankenstein" is a book every one should read. Its author has great imaginative powers and a weird but original genius. There are passages in "Frankenstein" that appai the mind and make the flesh creep. Once read, the book can hardly ever be for-

9. A BOOK OF GOLDEN DEEDS. By C. M. YONGE. This is just the book to put into the hand of youth, circulating a healthy morelity, and true manly and womanly sentiments. Few books are better formed than this to develop and mould the tastes of the rising generation and encourage optimistic and patriotic ideas.

10. MOSSES PROM AN OLD MANSE. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNS. Another delightful companion for idle hours is this collection of magazine papers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his pers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his pers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." Like all his pers, which Hawthorne entitled "Mosses from an Old Manse." lence commends it anew to public favor.

11. THE SCARLET LETTER. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. A romance of intense interest, exhibiting extraordinary power of mental analysis and graphic description. For an artistic exposition of Puritanism, as modified by New England colonial life, we have nothing like it in our literature. Like the best of Scott's novels, it is true at once to the local manners and scenic features of the age and place. 12. ESSAYS OF ELIA. By CHARLES LAMB. These charming essays are full of a gay humor, interspersed with many sly these charming essays are full of a gay humor, interspersed with many sly hits, happy puns and bright scintillations of wit; carefully elaborated as they are, they are written with the utmost ease and grace, and composed in a spirit at they are written with the utmost ease and grace, and composed in a spirit at once delicate and unobtrusive. Seeking his material in the common paths of once delicate and unobtrusive. Seeking his material in the common paths of life—even the humblest—Lamb gives an importance to everything and sheds a

13. VICAR OF WAKEFIELD. By OLIVER GOLDSMITH.

This beautifully illustrated edition of a famous English classic will increase its attractions for those who recognize the claim it has as essentially a "home book" for the whole reading world. Goldsmith has thed over the world the tenderest light of his genius, and the pastoral scenes in it are unrivalled, we tenderest said unapproached, by any other writer of fiction. As Sir Walter had almost said unapproached, by any other writer of fiction. As Sir Walter Scott said of it, "We read the Vicar of Wakefield in youth and in age, and return to it again and again, and bless the memory of an author who contrives so well to reconcile us to human nature." The book, throughout its fascinating pages, exhibits all the characteristic traits of "Poor Poli"—a genial fancy, and the most diverting simplicity. diverting simplicity.

14. TWICE TOLD TALES. By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. Hawthorne, the most distinctly American and by far the most popular of our writers, has given the world an undying book in "Twice-Told Tales." The stories were originally contributed to an Annual, published now over fifty years ago, and being subsequently reprinted, are in reality "Twice-Told Tales." They have all being subsequently reprinted, are in reality "Twice-Told Tales." They have all being subsequently reprinted, are in subtlety of thought and insight, which the felicity of expression, as well as the subtlety of thought and insight, which are the special charm of the author of "The Scarlet Letter." Each story breathes are the special charm of the author of "The Scarlet Letter." Each story breathes its own air of contemplation, and its effect is heightened by the felicities of style no less than by the imaginative genius of the author.

15. PAUL AND VIRGINIA. By BERNARDIN DE SAINT PIERRE. 5. PAUL AND VIRGINIA. By BERNARDIN DE SAINT PIERRE.

This idvilie story, by a classic French writer of the wholesome romantic school, is an immortal book, and has won a place for itself in the homes of almost every people who possess a literature and can appreciate the work of genius. It may, people who possess a literature and can idealized Robinson Crusoe, and it has with some literary propriety, be termed an idealized Robinson Crusoe, and it has all the fascination of that renowned work. It is a book that is sure to go down the centuries, charming as well as edifying generations yet unborn.

16. STORY OF AN AFRICAN FARM. By (Ralph Iron) OLIVE SCHREINER. 16. STORY OF AN AFRICAN FARM. By (Ralph Iron) OLIVE SCHREINER.

Under the nom de plume of Ralph Iron, Miss Olive Schreiner has written an extraordinarily powerful story, full of graphic descriptions and the most appealing pathos. The author seems to have followed no recognized mode of romance, but struck out a new path in fiction for herself. Her novel consists of a series but struck out a new path in fiction for herself. Her novel consists of a series of studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild life of an orchard farm in South Africa, and set-of-studies illustrating the wild remarkable novels of the age. 17. LAYS OF THE SCOTTISH CAVALIERS.

By WM. EDMONSTOUNE AYTOUN.

These stirring ballads of Professor Aytoun, of Blackwood fame, have their only rival in Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome." Their popularity is not lessented by the fact that they are to be met with in every school reader and in the repertoire of most elocutionists and platform declaimers. Nor is popular apprecipation affected by the fact that their author, in enshrining in patriotic and clation affected by the fact that their author, in enshrining in patriotic and soul-stirring verse the heroic incidents of Scottish history, takes the "Royalist" side as against that of the "Covenanters."

18. LUCILE. By OWEN MEREDITH (Robert Lord Lytton.) "Lucile." by the second Lord Lytton, late Governor-General of India and British Ambassador to Paris, is a novel in verse, with rhymed couplets, cast somewhat in the mould of Mrs. Browning's "Aurora Leigh." It is an enchanting what in the mould of Mrs. Browning's "Aurora Leigh." It is an enchanting story, with a strong admixture of romantic thought, plus fertility of inventory, tion and brilliant dialogue.

19. DREAMS. By (Ralph Iron) OLIVE SCHREINER. 9. DREAMS. By (Haiph 1701) CLAVE SCHREINER.

Though unlike the "Story of an African Farm," "Dreams" has many of the characteristics which made Miss Schreiner's early work famous. The book is both acteristics which made Miss Schreiner's early work famous. The book is both interesting and suggestive, and, besides its high meditative qualities, is rich in interesting and suggestive, and lay before the thoughtful reader. "Dreams" lights to propound to herself and lay before the thoughtful reader. "Dreams" is manifestly the work of a rare and uncommon mind.

20. BLACK BEAUTY. By ANNA SEWELL.

"Black Beauty" is a horse, and the story Miss Sewell so feelingly tells us is its autobiography. The tale well deserves its great popularity, for it is wonderfully realistic, and makes a strong appeal to those who leve dumb animals and possess the instinct of common humanity. It is a book to charm and impress all who have to do with horses, especially those who seek to suppress that most senseless of all vices, cruelty to animals.

mate of New Orleans receipts for to-day were announced. What the market may do will be largely the result of the demand or non-demand for spots. If speculation was as active as last year, spots would have to follow, but with a lessening of its volume, it is safe to let spots take the lead. So far there is nothing to indicate an interior movement this week much, if any, larger than last year, with the prospect that the port movement will be about the same, perhaps a little less, than last week. DEATHS.

COATES.—Entered into rest, in the blissful hope of immortality, Sunday, October 29th, at 1016 east Clay street, at 9:30 A. M., Miss MARY J. COATES, in the eighty-third year of her age.

Interment took place near Fredericks Hall, Monday evening, October 30th. VENGEANCE DEMANDED.

An Office Statement Concerning the Riffian Battle Does Not Allay Popular Ferment. MADRID, Oct. 31 .- A statement was issued yesterday by the War Office, to the effect that only twelve men were killed and sixteen wounded including eleven officers, in Sunday's engagement with the Riffians around Melilla. It is believed that this does not contain the full truth. It has had no effect whatever in allaying epular ferment and the demand for venlightest sign of abatement.

The belief is almost universal that the panish loss in the fight was severe. The cable to Melilla has become useless, until repaired, and mall communications will have to be depended upon. It is reported that the Riffians in great force were attempting yesterday to throw up entrencements one-third of a worked under heavy fire from the fort. The Spanish troops do not relax their vigilance by day or night, fearing that the enemy may attempt to surprise them and take the forts by assault. General Margallo, the Spanish commander killed in Sunday's fight, was buried yesterday with full military honors. General Macias is now in command of the troops, and is directing the ceremonies. AIMING AT RESTORATION. A Grandson of Dom Pedro Will Aid the Insurgents.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 .- Captain Brown. of the steamer Coleridge, which reached

New York yesterday from Rio de Janeiro, brought the important information that the grandson of the late Emperor Dom Pedro, a prince of the house of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, is reported to have sailed for Brazil from Europe on the powerful Brazilian ironciad Riachuela. The Coleridge sailed from Rio de Janeire October 6th, on the day Captain Brown states, that the leaders of the revolutionary party were calling upon adherents to stand firm until the arrival of the grandson of their old emperor. Admiral Mello, the insurgent leader, has announced, Captain Brown says, that Dom Pedro's grandson is coming to lead in person the revolutionary forces. Mello, it is said, has appealed to the old ad-herents of the monarchy to rally to the support of Saxe-Coburs.
